GUIDE TO GRADING

The following guide is presented to help enable you to determine the overall quality of a particular timepiece. Bear in mind that this is a guide only, and thus a numerical range is given for each category. A mint watch that shows no wear but has a very light crease would not be dropped down to excellent because of this minor blemish. The fact remains that the overall condition is still mint. The reverse of this, of course, would be a watch that is graded excellent even though the case shows very little wear. It may show a brassy look and thus the excellent rating. The most important factor is that every watch sold by Tom Engle is fairly priced in relationship to its grade.

CASES AND MOVEMENTS

FACTORY NEW

Never worn, no problems whatsoever, looks the same as it did when it left the jeweler's store. Watches in this condition are seldom seen and command significant premiums 100%

MINT NEAR MINT

A seldom used watch showing very minor handling blemishes 90%-99%
Shows evidence of occasional use, no easily noticeable signs of wear. A very presentable watch 80%-89%

EXCELLENT

Wear and occasional use are evident, but there may be minor brass on gold-filled cases. There may be minor dings or scratches 70%-79%

FAIR

Daily and frequent use is obvious, easily noticeable brass and wear, and possibly dings and scratches 50%-69%

POOR

Major damage or wear. Functional as a holding case only. Not collectible except in a very rare item

DIALS

MINT

No hairlines, scratches, cracks flakes or chips visible. In metal dials, full original color, no stains, blemishes or scratches.

VERY FINE AVERAGE

Very attractive but has a light hairline or a couple of edge flakes.
A few hairlines or a well repaired flake can be found. In metal dials, some discoloration or other slight problems.

BELOW AVERAGE

Some damage or other serious problems. In metal dials, discoloration to a point where it should be refinished.
